METHOD FOR ENTERING TEXT

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of providing selected text into a computer includes selecting a character in a range of characters and selecting a word as a function of the selected character. The word is presented to the user and an action is received from the user pertaining to the selected character.